DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5,822,360 (hereinafter referred as "Lee") in view of US Patent 5,430,760 (hereinafter referred as "Dent").

Regarding claims 1-4, Lee discloses a device including a microphone, a modulator, and antenna, and an RF amplifier (see Figs. 1 and 4, elements 22, 24, col. 9, lines 19-30), the device serving to receive audio and transmit an RF signal conveying audio modulation, an improvement comprising:

- (a) a steganographic encoder for hiding plural bits of auxiliary data within the audio modulation of said RF signal (see Figs. 1 and 3, elements 14 and 12, col. 6, lines 56-67, col. 7, lines 1-67, and col. 8, lines 1-34);

Lee does not disclose or teach a cellular telephone. However, Dent discloses a cellular telephone (see Fig. 1, col. 4, lines 58-67, and col. 4, lines 1-38).). At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine the cellular telephone teaching by Dent with Lee. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide to easily carry and communication. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Dent and Lee to obtain the invention as specified in the claims 1-4.

Art Unit: 2616

Regarding claims 5-7, Lee discloses a device including an RF amplifier, an antenna, a demodulator, and a speaker, the device serving to receive RF transmissions and output an audio signal conveyed thereby (see Fig. 4, col. 9, lines 19-30), an improvement comprising a steganographic decoder for discerning multi-symbol auxiliary data conveyed as slight alterations to said audio signal (see Fig. 1, elements 26 and 12, col. 6, lines 56-67, col. 7, lines 1-67, col. 8, lines 1-34);

Lee does not disclose a battery-powered wireless reception device sized for fitting in a user's pocket or purse. However, Dent discloses a battery-powered wireless reception device sized for fitting in a user's pocket or purse (see Fig. 1, col. 4, lines 58-67, and col. 4, lines 1-38). At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine the battery-powered wireless reception device sized for fitting in the user's pocket or purse teaching by Dent with Lee. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide for easily carrying and communication. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Dent and Lee to obtain the invention as specified in the claims 5-7.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 8-10 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 2616
